Dear Psychologist:

We invite you to join us and receive all the benefits of membership

More and more Lancaster and Lebanon psychologists are learning that the benefits of LLPA membership far exceed the nominal membership dues.

LLPA provides the services that you value and expect from your local association, including the following:

- Affiliation with your local colleagues through free or low cost member dinner and breakfast meetings, some of which will earn members continuing education credit good toward license renewal.
- A newsletter and emails which keep members informed about local CE offerings and local news of interest to psychologists working in Lancaster and Lebanon
- A vehicle for expressing common concerns and positions
- Access to free LLPA mailing labels
- Multi-person discounts to J&K Seminars even when attending alone.

Membership Requirements

To be a member of LLPA, you must be a licensed psychologist, a certified school psychologist, or work as a psychologist in an institution, clinic, or some other licensed setting. If you do not meet these criteria, it is illegal to present yourself to the public as a psychologist. That is why we must adopt these standards for full membership.

Persons who do not meet these standards may still participate in our association as associates. Associates receive the same benefits as full members but may not be elected president.

Special New Member/ Associate Dues: July 2002 - December 2003 – (This Year and Next)
